

Personal Biographies

"There was never yet an uninteresting life. Such a thing is an impossibility. Inside of the dullest exterior there is a drama, a comedy, and a tragedy." — Mark Twain

Biographical films have been popularized in recent years by the success of A&E Biography and Ken Burns's PBS documentaries. Today, professional biographies with interviews, photographs, archival footage, and music are no longer only for the rich and famous. New technology and the talent at Biography Films make it affordable for you to record the life story of a personal hero — with all the struggles, triumphs, and joys — in a production that will be enjoyed for generations to come.

These biographies become part of your family history. They make a perfect gift for a birthday, anniversary, retirement, bar mitzvah, or wedding. Personal biographies have been the highlight of memorial services. And even though biographies are generally about people in their later years of life, they can be made for anyone, or any couple, no matter what the age.

There's no such thing as an uninteresting life.™
